

The lines in this image represent the way in which Van Gogh used brush strokes to apply paint. Notice how those lines near the bottom of the drawing are longer and thicker and appear to be closer to you while those lines gradually become smaller as they near the top of the page and appear farther away eventually becoming dots. Many artists have adopted the techniques of the masters by studying their work through imitation. Duplicate Van Gogh's drawing in the space below.